C. D. CONFERENCE HELD TUESDAY EVENING

A conference on community planning for emergencies conducted by the University of Maine Continuing Education Division was held Tuesday evening at Crescent Park School.

The three-hour conference conducted by four men from the University of Maine was attended by between 30 and 40 interested citizens from this area including representatives of S. A. D. 44, teachers, town officials and local Civil Defense personnel.

Subjects covered in the conference were: The Modern Concept of Civil Defense — "The Problem of Fallout," "Fallout Shelters," "The Many Functions of Civil Defense," and "Community Planning."

State and Federal help to local civil defense agencies was explained and also aid from the University of Maine. Much of this assistance is in the form of information and consultation.

COMMENTS FROM THE TOWN MANAGER'S OFFICE

I expect that the budget committee will have one meeting this week and that a large portion of the municipal services budget will be out of the way. There are a great many unknown factors at this time and I could not even guess at the tax rate for 1967. The tax rate has been reduced a small amount each of the last few years so a small increase might not be too bad.

This might be a good time to mention that there are some elective offices that must be filled this year in both school and town affairs. I believe there are two school directors whose terms expire this year and one selectman finishes his term this year. I don't know if any of the present officeholders plan to run for another term but a little competition in these jobs is always a welcome and healthy thing.

The planning board will meet this Thursday, Jan. 19, at 7:30 at the Selectmen's Office to study and discuss the preliminary zoning ordinance prepared by the James Sewall Co. The Planning Board has a very important job for the coming year. A large amount of local, state, and federal money has been spent in the preparation of a comprehensive plan. The task of the Planning Board is to use the plan in the development of the town. I'm sure they will welcome the interest and assistance of every citizen in town.

I expect that this will be my last "comments" as town manager of Bethel. It is difficult to explain some things when talking with a person and it is more difficult to write something and expect everyone to get the intended message. I'm sure that many of the things could have been better said but I also believe that at times the best phrasing and explanation will be misinterpreted. I have attempted to keep the people informed of the operations of the town government and I am certain that this end has been accomplished in some small way.

The Institution for Rainbow Girls for this district will be held at Mt. Zion Chapter, Rumford, on Jan. 28. Any girls between 12 and 18 years of age interested in joining thereafter can contact Mrs. Pete Baker.

SHERIFF SAYS DRIVE ON PORNOGRAPHY GOING WELL IN OXFORD COUNTY

Oxford County Sheriff Lester C. Horton said Tuesday his campaign against alleged pornographic literature being sold on newsstands in his 35-town jurisdiction was "going well."

"We've found almost nothing," the sheriff said after the first week of activity. "What we have found, the newsstand dealers have been extremely cooperative in removing."

The investigation, launched a week ago, came at the request of the October 1966 Grand Jury. Horton was instructed to report his findings to the jurors when they reconvene at Rumford next month.

The sheriff and newly elected County Attorney David F. Aldrich of Norway met recently with the sheriff's 12 full-time deputies who are responsible for policing the many newsstands in the county.

Aldrich spelled out exactly what might be considered pornography under state statute and in line with U. S. Supreme Court decisions on the subject.

The investigation was the result of private polling of newsstands in the county last fall by Christian Civic League leader Benjamin Bubar of Waterville.

Just prior to the convening of the October Grand Jury, Bubar confronted county legal officials with several magazines and newspapers which he felt contained pornographic material.

The material was presented to the Grand Jury, which instructed Horton to investigate based on its findings.

The sheriff is asking dealers to remove materials which might be construed as pornographic under state statute. If the dealers do not remove the material, Horton said the county would determine what legal action to take.

SNOW VEHICLE OPERATORS ASKED NOT TO USE DEVIL'S KITCHEN TRAILS

Operators of snow vehicles are asked to please keep off the cross-country course around Devil's Kitchen from now until the end of the racing season, March 1. Not only do these vehicles destroy the track the runners need, but many times visiting racers get confused by the interconnecting trails and don't have an opportunity to compete on even terms.

SHOE MANUFACTURER TO EMPLOY 25-30 TO START, SAYS OCEDC

Announcement was made today of a new industry for the town of Bethel by Sam Michael, Director of the Oxford County Economic Development Commission.

The new operation for Bethel will be a new concern known as the Bethel Shoe Co. Inc. It is planning to start operations in an existing building and intends to be an integrated shoe manufacturing operation. Alterations to the proposed location are now going on and manufacturing will start as soon as the building is ready. Hiring should start in the very near future.

Negotiations with the Company have been carried on for some time. A labor survey was recently conducted by the Oxford County Economic Development Commission, J. Grover Cleveland, General Manager of the new concern said, "The management of our company was very pleased with the type of personnel who indicated a willingness to work in this new operation. The cooperation of the town officials, local merchants and industry was also a large factor in the company's final decision to locate this plant in Bethel."

On being asked about the employment prospects and future of this company, Mr. Cleveland said, "Our Company wants this operation to be an integrated shoe factory. We would like to have 25 or 30 people to start, both men and women, and grow just as fast as possible. The ultimate employment at this plant will depend on how many people are available and willing to go to work and in fact could mean hundreds of jobs."

Mr. Michael, Director of the Oxford County Economic Development Commission said, "The acquisition of this new industry was the result of the cumulative efforts of the Town Manager, Local Development Corp., and town officials and the State Dept. of Economic Development should also be given credit for their assistance. With the acquisition of this new company the total now is six new industries located in the County by the Oxford County Economic Development Commission during the first 19 months of its existence."

ARMY SEEKS HIGH SCHOOL GRADS FOR

PILOT TRAINING PROGRAM

The Army Recruiting Service has been directed to place special emphasis on securing qualified young high school graduates for enlistment in the Warrant Officer Flight Training Program, according to Major John J. Wooten, commander of Army recruiting forces of north New England.

Qualified applicants will be enlisted in the Army for a two year period. Following completion of basic training, they will be assigned to flight training. Those successfully completing the flight training will be appointed Warrant Officer pilots.

In order to qualify for enlistment under the Warrant Officer Flight Training Program, a man must be: a citizen of the U. S., a high school graduate, and be between 18 and 30 years of age. In addition, he must pass a rigid physical and mental examination and be of excellent moral character.

Detailed information and assistance in applying for this enlistment option can be obtained by contacting the Army Recruiting Station at Room 206, Federal Bldg., Berlin, N. H., or by calling 752-5150.

FEED GRAIN PROGRAM

SIGN-UP DATES

ARE FROM JAN. 23 TO MAR. 3

In the hustle and bustle of starting off a new calendar year, farmers should not forget the sign-up dates for the 1967 Feed Grain Program, cautioned Lawrence A. Chatto, State Executive Director of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

The six-week sign-up period begins January 23 and ends March 3. The 1967 voluntary program is similar to the program for 1966, although it has been strengthened in some respects. The director listed these changes:

-The price support loan rate has been increased. For 1967 crop corn, Maine's rate is up five cents, from $1.28 per bushel. In expressing allage corn yields under the Feed Grain Program, a ton of allage is considered to equal approximately five bushels. On this basis, the 1967 corn rate converts to $6.40 a ton of ensilage corn.

-The support payment rate continues at the 30-cent per bushel level for corn production on 50 per cent of the farmer's base acreage.

-The loan rate on barley is up from 80 cents per bushel to 90 cents, national average. This rate is available to all producers on their entire acreage. Barley is not included in the feed grain program this year. Farmers who grow barley and also participate in the 1967 wheat program may arrange with the county ASCS office to plant wheat as a substitute on barley base acres, on a full acre-for-acre basis.

Director Chatto also outlined some of the benefits that are continued in the 1967 program from preceding voluntary feed grain programs:

There will be advance payments. If a farmer wants to take it he may receive one-half of his total payment at the time of sign-up. This provision will be of particular interest to farmers who earn only a price-support payment in 1967.

The small base provision remains in effect. Farms with feed grain bases of 25 acres or less may divert more than the qualifying minimum of 20 per cent on up to as much as the entire base. They will be eligible for payment on all of such diversion.

Farmers may plant soybeans on any or all of their permitted corn in 1967 without loss of program payments.

Chatto said the need to expand feed grain production in the range of 12 to 15 million acres in 1967 and divert 15 to 18 million acres is indicated by the reduced carryover this year. "The marketing year begins October 1 each year. Last October 1, the carryover of old corn was 855 million bushels, down one-fifth from a year earlier. Grain sorghum stocks on October were 297 million bushels, down nearly one-third from a year earlier. If we add in barley and oats, the total feed grain carryover is about 43 million tons. This is about the cushion or reserve that is desirable," he added.

MAINE TODAY

by Earle Doucette
Maine, Where the Nation Will Vacation

The news that the citizens of Brownfield, in western Maine, will seek the construction of a new, all-season recreational area at a cost of nearly a half-million dollars was greeted with gratification because it will be a welcome addition to the state's vacation travel industry.

If, however, the news had come not more than a half dozen years ago it would have caused a sensation, because at that time we had nothing of the kind in Maine. Skiing, in Maine, was an infant sport. Now we have admirably designed and equipped ski areas from one end of the state to the other.

Two new ones have come into being this year—Enchanted Mountain, at Jackman, and Eaton Mountain, at Shawhegan. In prospect is a multi-million dollar area in the Flagstaff-Mount Bigelow section.

But that isn't all. What we now call the "old" areas, such as Pleasant Mountain, Sugarloaf, Saddleback, Mt. Abram, Sunday River, and so forth, are not standing still, in fact today they are just cutting their second teeth. They are growing bigger and better each season.

A new idea for Maine is the development of all-season recreation areas, such as that planned for Smithfield and Flagstaff. They will feature skiing in the winter and golf, boating, bathing and other sports in other seasons, thus they will be of interest to the recreation-minded during the four seasons.

To one who has been identified with the vacation travel business for over a quarter of a century here in Maine this astonishing boom in recreational facilities is the realization of a dream.

No so long ago in publicizing the state we could talk about our wonderful climate, our magnificent scenery our great hunting and fishing, and that was about all. We had a sprinkling of fine golf courses, but not nearly enough. We had hundreds of hills and mountains, ideal for skiing, but most of them were inaccessible in the winter, and were entirely lacking in facilities.

Now all this is changed. We are a power in the winter sports industry in the east; we are getting fine, new golf courses each year, we are beginning to establish marinas to develop our enormous boating potential, we are busy acquiring new public parks. And most of this has been done in the past dozen years.

As a result of all this our vacation travel business is growing in a dizzying spiral. It is estimated that it brings about a third of a billion dollars to the state annually, and there are those who believe that it will reach a billion in a relatively short time.

We are concerned with increasing manufacturing activity in Maine, and rightly so, but we must never forget the enormous potential of our vacation travel business.

There are none of us who do not benefit when a visitor comes to Maine, because the travel business yields millions of dollars in taxes alone, to say nothing of the tens of millions it brings in terms of employment and sales of goods and services.

There seems no doubt that the vacation travel business will establish a new record in Maine in 1967, certainly something that should evoke a spirit of optimism in all of us.

The Weather Club sponsored an all school assembly Monday with Mr. Martin Engstrom as speaker. Mr. Engstrom is known to Mt. Washington Channel 8 viewers through the mountain weather station reports. He showed colorful slides of the Mountain illustrating the hazards of winter trips made by the station crews in weekly shifts. Beautiful views from the top of the Mountain, an interesting explanation of the scientific equipment located on the Mountain, and an account of the unusual daily life of crew members on top of the Mountain were enjoyed by Mr. Engstrom's audience. Ned Robertson, the Weather Club's representative on the Student Activity Council, introduced Mr. Engstrom to the assembly. After the assembly, Mr. Engstrom visited the Weather Club's station in Hansom Hall.

Headmaster Edmond Vachon attended Monday the principals' meeting of the Mountain Valley League held at Hall-Dale School in Farmingdale.

The music department has been notified that nine of the Academy students who auditioned for the All State Music Festival have been chosen to participate. Seniors chosen are: Stephen Ames, Carol Floyd, Elise Hatch, Peter Howard, Barbara McKnight, Bronwyn Patterson; Juniors: Gretchen Dock and Kathy Powers and Sohomore Dorothy Lovejoy. The Academy is pleased to have such a large representation chosen for the All State Festival which will be held in April.

Martin Hall, USEASA Country and Nordic coach visited Gould on Tuesday, Jan. 17th, and worked with twelve members of the Gould team and Coach Earth in afternoon practice. Marty Hall has had 21 years of racing experience beginning in Laconia High School and Vermont Academy and continuing at the University of New Hampshire. In 1959 he won the National Nordic Combined Championship and toured the U. S. and Europe participating in many of the world famous cross-country and biathlon races as a member of

SKI TIPS

#3 KICKTURN

By Ace Manley
Director, Big Bromley Ski School

The kickturn is a complete change of direction from a standstill. It is the fastest way for a skier to turn around in a stationary position.

If he is on a slope, the skier stands with skis horizontal to the slope. With skis parallel, both poles are placed in front of the skier at almost arms' length.

One ski, in this case the downhill ski, is kicked forward and up in the air until the tail of the ski is set in the snow near the tip of the uphill ski. Without any hesitation, the downhill ski is pivoted downhill and swung around behind the skier to face the tail of the uphill ski.

Meanwhile, the downhill pole has been planted in the new uphill position.

As the uphill pole is then brought to a full arms' length on the downhill side, the original uphill ski, in one quick motion, is swung around flat and placed in parallel position with the original downhill ski.

The skier should now be facing in the opposite direction from which he started the kickturn.
